Thaw to Remain at Hospital For Insane Until New Tangle Is Cleared

(By the Associated Press)

PHILADELPHIA, April 23.—Although he was declared sane and fully capable of managing his affairs by a jury in common pleas court last night, Harry K. Thaw today is still in the Pennsylvania hospital for mental and nervous diseases where he has been confined for the last seven years.

After the verdict was brought in William A. Gray, counsel for Evelyn Nesbit, Thaw's divorced wife whose 13-year old son was permitted to intervene in the trial, requested the usual four days in which to file a motion and reason for a new trial. The motion was granted and Judge Monahan before whom the case was heard, held Thaw in custody of the court pending its disposition. No time was set for the hearing motion. Meanwhile Thaw must remain in the asylum.

In announcing that he would ask for a new trial, Mr. Gray said he also spoke for Arthur D. Dickson, counsel for the trustees of Thaw's estate, who also opposed his release.

Thaw and his aged mother, Mrs. Mary C. Thaw, received the news of the verdict in Mrs. Thaw's suite at the Ritz-Carlton hotel. Thaw said he would not make any definite plans for the future until his case is finally disposed of.

TAXPAYERS FAIL TO MEET PENALTY

Period For Payment of First Half Year Taxes Nears Close

With only a week left in which to pay fiscal year taxes without paying penalty on delinquency, taxpayers of Pontotoc county were still hesitant about meeting their obligations and apparently over one-half of the taxable lands in the county will be unpaid on May 1, the end of the period of grace.

Regardless of the fact that the date for tax payments has been extended from January 15 to May 1 through an act of the state legislature, over half of the taxpayers of the county have not as yet taken advantage of the postponement.

According to the files in the county treasurer's office today 3,765 receipts had been issued from the office while the total estimated from the taxable lands in the county will reach approximately 9,000.

Treasurer Westbrook believes that the final week of the grace period will see a grand rush of taxpayers of the county in an effort to avoid payment of penalties in delinquency. Taxpayers will have no letup in the drain on their pocketbooks in the cause of taxation since the second half of their fiscal year will demand tax payment on June 1, a month following the delinquency date of the first half taxes.

Westbrook states that some of the taxes being paid now includes the second half.

Noticeable Calm In Oil Industry During Past Week

A noticeable calm in the hitherto mad exchange of property purported to cover up untapped oil pools has prevailed during the past two weeks, according to Rit Erwin, county clerk and custodian of the oil instrument exchange.

Erwin contributes the lull in business to be natural and not significant of waning interest in oil industry in Pontotoc county. The present lull in lease buying follows a hectic period of mad buying of leases in practically every corner of the county.

(By the Associated Press)

Dudley Earnest, W. S. Eakins, George White indicted with Marr were found not guilty on all counts of the indictment.

DANIELS REFUSED TO LEASE OIL RESERVE

(By the Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, April 23.—Joseph Daniels as secretary of the navy was "very obdurate to get any lease for lands within the naval oil reserves," Commander H. A. Stuart, U. S. navy, said in a letter read today into the record of the Senate oil committee. Commander Stuart was in charge of the reserves under Mr. Daniels and is now on duty in Wyoming with the Teapot Dome receivers.

Stating that oil land leased while Mr. Daniels was secretary amounted to only 120 acres to the Consolidated Mutual company, and five wells to the Boston Pacific company, all in Reserve No. 2, in California. Commander Stuart said that after the reverses of the 1920 election Mr. Daniels particularly stated that he had consistently refused to open up the reserves and that he would not change that policy before leaving office.

JAPS PAY TRIBUTE SASEBO VICTIMS

Letters of Submarine Victims To Restore Morale of People

(By the Associated Press)

TOKIO, April 23.—Bitterness against American anti-Japanese immigration legislation was forgotten today while a tribute was paid to the 44 victims of the Sasebo submarine disaster which developed some touching pledges of immortal patriotism found in notes written by the victims while waiting for slow death from suffocation.

In connection with the impressive funeral ceremonies at Sasebo the government made public to the nation letters found in submarine No. 43 which sank in 26 fathoms of water in Sasebo harbor March 19. Typical of the phrases in these letters are:

"Long live the emperor."
"We who die will guard the empire after death."
"In coming generations our spirits will serve the emperor."

Morning newspapers devoted columns to the publication of the letters the publication of which was calculated to improve the national morale as well as that of the navy and to counteract some of the unpopularity of the submarine service which has had several serious accidents in recent months.

Chauncey Depew May Take Golf in Ten Years

(By the Associated Press)

NEW YORK, April 23.—Ten years from today Chauncey M. Depew may take up golf but just now that he is only 90 years old he won't break the daily routine of his office, he said yesterday.

The veteran railroad man, after dinner speaker and former United States senator celebrated his ninetieth birthday today and planned to spend it as any other day. He arrives in his office about 10 o'clock in the morning and leaves between 4:30 and 5 in the afternoon. On birthdays he wades through piles of congratulatory letters and telegrams and for several years has been explaining to reporters the secrets of his long and healthy life.

Mr. Depew hopes to speak again at the Republican national convention. At the last one at Chicago he spoke for 45 minutes and he has been attending them regularly since 1864. Depew approves of women in politics but thinks they take it all too seriously, especially in their speeches, for they leave out funny stories and according to his own statement he had rather tell funny stories than to be elected president. He believes President Coolidge will be re-elected and thinks the younger generation is not going to the dogs.

Thirty Reported Killed

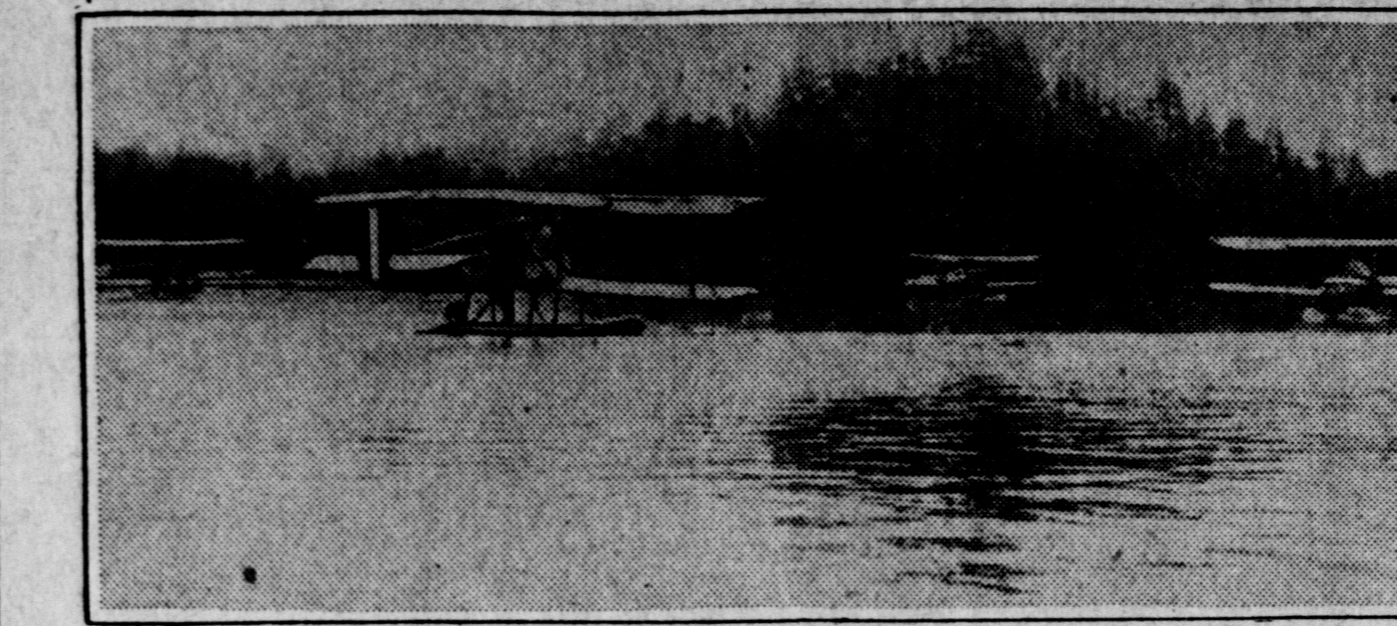

(By the Associated Press)

BERNE, Switz., April 23.—Thirty persons are reported to have been killed and 50 injured when the Zurich-Milan express trains collided near Bellinzona this morning. Twelve bodies have been recovered. Each train was drawn by two electric engines and all four were demolished. The four engineers were killed. Both trains had numerous foreign passengers and several Americans were on the train from Italy.

Four Americans are reported to have been in the rear sleeping car from Italy which was less damaged than others. The Italian train had several British and French passengers in addition to 45 Germans and 52 Italians.

WORLD FLIERS PROGRESS STEADILY TOWARDS SIBERIA

New picture from the world fliers, showing them alighting on Seal Cane, Prince Rupert, British Columbia.

Steady progress of the three planes toward Asia in the around the world flight sponsored by the air service of the United States army is reassuring elements which opposed the project on the grounds that the route being followed by the fliers was not feasible. Major Frederick L. Martin, commander of the expedition, and his world circlers are going ahead despite delays caused by crippling of his flagplane, Seattle, by snow squalls between Chignik, Alaska, and Dutch Harbor, Unalaska Island, on their route towards Siberia.

SENATE PRESSES BONUS BILL FOR FINAL VOTE

(By the Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, April 23.—Convening two hours earlier than usual the senate pressed forward towards a vote today on the soldiers bonus bill with each speaker limited to 15 minutes. The principal controversy centered on the amendment for inclusion in the bill of a cash option provision offered by Senator Copeland, Democrat, New York.

Although drafted by Democratic members of the senate finance committee, the amendment was not submitted by them, the leaders said, because they feared its defeat would prevent the enactment of a bonus bill. Republican leaders had said they would vote to sustain a presidential veto if the bill carried a cash option provision, but would vote to override a veto if the insurance bill is disapproved by the executive.

FORT TOWSON TO DRAW CENTENNIAL

Indians of State to Gather To Observe Hundredth Anniversary

(By the Associated Press)

DURANT, April 23.—The one-hundredth anniversary of the establishment of Fort Towson and the settlement of the five civilized tribes will be celebrated in Durant May 12, under the directions of the Oklahoma Historical Society.

All governors of the civilized tribes and all former governors now living have been invited to be present and take part on the centennial. In addition, prominent Indian citizens from over the entire United States will be present.

Senator Robert L. Owen and Congressman Charles Carter will speak. Gov. M. E. Trapp, former Governor Lee Cruce, former Governor Bob Williams and many other prominent men of the state are expected.

One of the features of the day will be a "dinner on the ground" served by the citizens of Durant, consisting of old time Indian dishes. This meal will be prepared by cooks who haven't forgotten how to prepare "Ta-folla," "Pa-shofa" and many other dishes of the aborigines.

In the afternoon a program will be given by the children from Indian schools of eastern Oklahoma. Many songs will be sung in the native Indian tongue, and photograph records of these will be made and kept by the historical society.

This centennial will be one of the most unique and unusual celebrations, ever held in Oklahoma, its sponsors declare.

William F. Temple of the Choctaw tribe, will be in active charge of the program, with Mrs. Carline Conlan, supervisor of the Indian department of the Oklahoma Historical society, assisting him.

Mrs. Conlan assisted in organizing the first study club for women in the Indian Territory in Atoka in 1896.

The program will be held at the new auditorium of the Southeastern State Teachers College here and the dinner will be served on the campus of the school. One of the unusual features will be the descriptive lecture on Fort Towson by a pioneer, who was born inside the old fort. Many bits of unwritten history will be revealed at the centennial and many old-time relics will be displayed.

Coolidge Still Leading

(By the Associated Press)

NEWARK, N. J., April 23.—President Coolidge yesterday overwhelmed Senator Hiram Johnson of California in New Jersey preferential primary. With 473 election districts still unreturned the president had a lead of nearly 80,000 votes which was being increased by belated returns.

GOLF ELIMINATION MATCHES GOING NOW

Score Cards Being Turned In for Qualification In Tournament

With only one more day remaining in which to play qualifying rounds to determine who shall swat the speckled pill for Ada golfers in their match with the Holdenville club here Sunday, score cards are beginning to roll in to P. E. Alderson, chairman of the tournament committee of the local club, as fast as members think they have made their best score.

Interest in golf has taken a decided spurt since the first announcement of the match to be played over the local course. Nearly every member of the club has been fighting hard trying to get into form in time to qualify and be counted among the ten who will represent the Ada golfers.

Notwithstanding the fact that the par on the local course is 34 for the nine holes, the scores turned in to date show pretty consistent golf even though they are considerably in excess of this mythical perfect score. The honor of playing the Ada course in par has not yet been attained.

Chairman Alderson, of the tournament committee, asks every member to get his score in to him by Friday noon, as Thursday is the last day for qualifying play, and announcement must be made Friday of the ten who will do battle under the local flag when Holdenville comes to town.

The following scores have been turned in to date:

J. L. McCauley	44-45	89
Dennis A. Davis	45-46	91
Paul E. Alderson	40-42	82
W. N. Mays	50-49	99
J. H. Biles	45-45	90
Walter N. Wray	42-45	87
J. B. Sledge	43-45	88
O. A. Bayless	45-49	94
H. P. Reich	43-52	95
J. A. Leavert	41-46	87
Roy L. Givens	42-44	86

NEW YORK, April 23.—Cecilia Cooney, confessed bobbed hair bandit, and her husband, Edward S. Cooney today pleaded guilty to an indictment charging robbery in the first degree when arraigned before County Judge Martin in Brooklyn. They were remanded to jail to await sentence which will be passed today.

They refused to accept the services of counsel engaged by Cooney's brother, who tried to enter a plea of not guilty for them. They said they had employed no lawyers and needed none.

PUBLISHER LEADS GOVERNOR OF PENNSYLVANIA IN RACE

(By the Associated Press)

PHILADELPHIA, April 23.—Ralph Beaver Strassburger, wealthy Morrison publisher running against Gov. Pinchot in yesterday's primary for delegate at large to the Republican national convention, has a lead of nearly 200,000 votes in less than half the election districts of the state.

Returns from 3,427 districts of the 8,119 in the state early today gave Strassburger 320, 537 and Pinchot 122,470.

RECORD NUMBER IN STATE MEET

Seventy-seven Schools in State To Send Athletes to Annual Meet

NORMAN, April 23.—Seventy-seven high schools of Oklahoma had entered two or more athletes for the Twentieth Annual Interscholastic track and field meet April 25 and 26 and for the tennis and baseball tournaments, according to the check of entries made Tuesday morning. These high schools entered approximately 750 men in the various events. This is one of the heaviest entries at this date on record and indicates that the entry of 104 high schools in 1923 will be surpassed this week, according to athletic officials.

Class A is represented with 35 entries, class B with 31 and Class C with 11 with approximately 30 baseball teams entered in these 3 classes as well as track and field teams.

Sooner athletic officials have completed all detail work for handling the great meet and believe that the meet this year will be the smoothest handled and fastest ever held. The scheduling of the preliminary track and field events for Friday is expected to speed up the meet, as well as allow the athletes to enter the finals Saturday afternoon in a fresh condition physically.

Entries in the meet to date are: Class A: Ada, Apache, Okemah, Bartlesville, Frederick, Ardmore, Broken Bow, Clement, Cherokee, Chickasha, Clinton, Crescent, Dewey, Drumright, Enid, Guthrie, Heald, Oklahoma City, Lawton, Medford, Morris, Mustang, Norman, Okmulgee, Purcell, Roosevelt, Seminole, Shawnee, Soper, Tulsa, Walters, Washington, Weatherford and Wewoka.

Class B: Wilson, Helena, Edmond, Durant, Alden, Addington, Anadarko, Broken Arrow, Carmen, Calumet, Comanche, Douglas, Henryetta, Healdton, Hennessey, Kingfisher, Lindsey, Pauls Valley, Ramona, Stroud, Sulphur, Tishomingo, Yukon and Union City.

Class C entries are Bryant, Coaltown, Fargo, Lexington, Mill Creek, Moore Consolidated, Prague, Vinson, Wapanucka, Wellston and Chelsea.

TULSA—Articles of incorporation for the Sand Springs country club now are in the hands of the secretary of state at Oklahoma City, according to Harley Atkin, member of the new organization. A golf course of eighteen holes will be laid out, a large club house built and various entertainments including a bathing beach provided for the members this year. Eighty acres of land have been purchased for the site. The club has about 50 members.

TWO OTHER PONTOTOC COUNTY MEN '89ERS

Yesterday was an important anniversary for two other Pontotoc county men, who took part in the grand rush of '89.

Besides the four named yesterday, B. C. Harbert, county surveyor, and E. H. Lucas were among the thousands who rushed into the newly created territory to stake off claims and begin life anew.

They recite the tales of hardships of the first few days in the new territory when they slept under overturned wagon beds and were deprived of many comforts they had previously enjoyed.

Harbert, who is present surveyor of the county, says that he traded off his claim in the new territory to a Kansas Jayhawker for a roanmare, bought a Frazier cart and started off with his surveying instruments to work his way out of the territory.

Harbert claims to have surveyed claims of many of the old settlers in the rush of '89.

SENATE PROBES DEAL ON WHEELER

Los Angeles Man Tells Committee Wheeler Had no Part in Affairs

(By the Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, April 23.—Reopening its inquiry into the charges against Senator Wheeler, Democrat, Montana, contained in an indictment returned by a federal grand jury in that state, the special senate committee today questioned L. V. Ballieu, formerly of Great Falls, Montana, but now of Los Angeles. Ballieu was until last September attorney for Gordon Campbell, Montana oil man indicted with Senator Wheeler. He waived immunity and testified that Wheeler had told him specifically he had informed Campbell he would have nothing to do with Campbell's government land matters. The charge in the senator's indictment is that he accepted money for appearing before the interior department in such cases.

Campbell had employed a Washington lawyer to look after land permit matters, Ballieu continued. "Have you any knowledge of Senator Wheeler and Mr. Campbell in any land permit cases?" asked Chairman Borah.

"No, sir, I have no such knowledge."

REPUBLICANS OF STATE TO BOOST COOLIDGE CLAIM

State Convention Swings in Form Despite Delay in Opening

COOLIDGE SENDS LETTER

Woodrow Wilson and Harding Draw Applause From State Assembly

(By the Associated Press)

OKLAHOMA CITY, April 23.—Tariff, taxes, foreign relations and "Coolidgeism" were the keynotes sounded in the Republican state convention today by W. L. Harding, former governor of Iowa in voicing the campaign call to Oklahoma Republicans.

Warning against party strife Harding asserted "the Democrats will slip in every time we quarrel." In referring to the Teapot Dome scandal the Iowan said: "Because one man entrusted with public affairs went wrong the government is not wrong and the party is not bad."

OKLAHOMA CITY, April 23.—Delayed for more than an hour, the Republican state convention swung into action shortly after 11 o'clock this morning. Best wishes for a "most successful convention" were expressed in a letter from President Coolidge read by United States Senator J. W. Harrell.

"I am sure that the Republicans of the country can look to Oklahoma for a continuance of their loyal co-operation and effective efforts which has marked the campaign in your state and upon which as elsewhere the future of the party depends," the president's letter declared.

Without opposition John Embury of Oklahoma City was elected temporary chairman, Howard B. Fields of Ardmore temporary secretary and Mrs. R. D. Rood of Bartlesville temporary assistant secretary.

Lauding President Coolidge and expressing the opinion that party factionalism had disappeared, Embury in his opening speech reviewed the political situation and declared "everything points to the continuation of Calvin Coolidge in the White House."

Tribute to Wilson. A tribute to Woodrow Wilson evoked applause from the delegates and the name of President Coolidge also was greeted with applause.

"We should not hesitate to prosecute any suit in public office," Embury asserted after reviewing recent senate investigations, and the convention applauded vigorously.

Four committees were named, each to consist of eight members, one from each congressional district. They were: credentials, rules of order, resolutions and nominations. The latter committee will nominate delegates at large to the national convention.

James Harris of Wagoner, national committeeman and candidate for the United States senate, would not answer a rumor that he would withdraw from the race. He said a "reply would be given in the convention."

A number of sportsmen who believe in the conservation of wild life, met at the chamber of commerce rooms Tuesday evening and organized a local branch of the Izaak Walton League. The following officers were elected: Sherwood Hill, president; L. P. Carpenter, vice-president; Harmon Ebey, secretary and W. J. Coffman, treasurer.

The object of the organization is to propagate game and fish and enforce the game laws of the state, thus preserving the game that is left and adding to it. One of the first moves of the local will be to secure fish with which to stock more of the streams of the county and get a supply of quail and perhaps other birds.

The club has applied for a charter and will send a representative to the state meeting which is soon to be held. A campaign for membership will be put on and the entire county included in the organization.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY
IF THINE ENEMY be hungry, give him bread to eat; and if he be thirsty, give him water to drink.—Proverbs 25:21.

PROTECTIONIST PAPER ALARMED.

The most highly amusing and edifying publication that comes to the exchange table of The News is the American Economist, the official journal of the high tariff beneficiaries of the East. It assumes that all other industries must bow before the manufacturers of the East and that the way to make the country prosperous is to first make the barons of the East rich and then let the prosperity trickle down through the masses beneath.

Claiming a tariff wall as something belonging to the manufacturing industries as a natural right the Economist is loud in protest when anything is said about protecting other classes. In its latest issue it sounds a warning that the McNary-Haughen bill is "a gross discrimination. All other industries would be sacrificed to agriculture. Protection for farm products, free trade for everything else."

Verily, consistency thou art a pewter dime in a duck's track.

Brazil is making a determined drive on yellow fever which has been almost driven out already. In only a few places does the plague exist any longer and it is planned to clean them up. The conquest of yellow fever must be accounted one of the greatest triumphs of the medical profession. From time immemorial the scourge had wrought untold havoc in destroying lives and the prosperity of communities. Even as far as Philadelphia it once held sway, but the present generation has almost forgotten that there was such a disease. With the cleaning up of Cuba and the Canal Zone came the further extension of efforts to wipe out the disease and yellow jack has been driven to the last refuge. Whatever one may think of John D. Rockefeller and his business methods, his money has done much to wipe out this terrible fever. It has enabled the medical fraternity and weak communities in foreign countries to keep the work going and success is at last certain. In time no doubt other diseases will be stamped out just as yellow fever has been. In this case it was a matter of finding how the disease was transmitted. When it was finally proved that it was the mosquito that carried the germ the rest was easy.

The report of the Dawes reparations committee is the star of hope to which most of the nations are looking as a guide from the morass of uncertainty and despondency in which all are wandering. Nation after nation has hailed it with gladness born of a new hope for the ultimate solution of the troubles of Europe and the harbinger of renewed prosperity to the world. If the results hoped for it are even approximately attained Dawes and his fellow workers will have accomplished more than can be estimated. Something had to be done to break the deadlock and the Dawes committee showed the way out. The whole issue is now squarely up to Germany.

The Izaak Walton League which was organized here Tuesday evening can do a great deal of good in the way of propagating and protecting wild life in Pontotoc county. With an organization of this kind pledged to make war on the game hogs it will not be so easy to violate every law on the statute books and get away with it. It is highly important that the birds be protected for they are man's best friend and the News hopes to see some good results develop from the new league.

Gov. Trapp is taking his time about appointing the school textbook commission which will select the books for the next five years. This is a matter that should be carefully weighed as it is not an easy matter to pick qualified men who can handle the matter strictly on its merits. It is to be hoped that the governor will select the members from among the leading educators of the state. It is a matter to which the ordinary business man has given little attention and about which he knows little.

The American Game Protective and Propagation association takes a hand in the discussion of exterminating the crow tribe by insisting that the black rascal does untold damage by hunting out the nests of other birds and eating them, thereby seriously affecting the propagation of more useful birds. It advises that one is doing a good deed when he kills a crow. Thus the controversy goes on.

Sunday was a red letter day with the Sunday schools of Ardmore which have been holding an attendance contest with the men's classes of Temple, Texas. The total attendance of these classes in the First Methodist, Broadway Baptist, First Presbyterian and First Christian Sunday schools was 1,717 last Sunday as compared with 887 for Temple.

The newspapers did what they could to help Manuel Herrick "rock the nation" by publishing the assertions he made with the intent to that end, but somehow the nation is moving along as usual with no perceptible sign of having

The Forum literary society met at the college Monday night at 7:30 o'clock, with Edgar E. Harris presiding.

The following numbers were rendered:
Song by the assembly.
Scripture read by the chaplain.
Talk on lynching in the United States by Travis Watson.
Legend by Fleeta Belle Chadd.
Quartet by Messrs Hall, Harris, Medlock and Frost.
Jokes by Hilda Frossard.

During the business session after the program, Mr. Harris asked the girls of the assembly to assist Miss Alice Morgan in planning a method of entertainment for the debaters, next Friday night. Moss Wimbish, Denton Floyd and Alton Thompson were taken into the society.

BYRDIA ANNOUNCES FOR REPRESENTATIVE

Fred F. Brydia authorizes The News to announce his candidacy for re-election as representative in the legislature from Pontotoc county. He is serving his first term now.

Mr. Brydia served with distinction through the regular session and the two extraordinary sessions, was punctual to duty and no one was in doubt as to his stand on all important matters. He is willing for his record to be examined and his re-election or rejection be made upon that record.

Through the turbulent times at the Capitol, Pontotoc's representative always kept his head. He supported the governor when he thought he was right, and was against him when he felt he was wrong. He says he tried to keep in mind at all times his duty to the citizens of Pontotoc county above all others, and that he voted in the best interest of them.

Fred looked after the interest of the East Central State Teachers college, and was instrumental in getting through a bill for another building. While this bill was not permitted to become a law on account of the governor's veto, that takes none of the credit from the men who put it through the legislative branches of the government.

Few men in the county have a wider acquaintance than Mr. Brydia and he can call most of the citizens by their first name.

He supported all progressive farm legislation.

NEW ADDITION TO HELP TRACK MEET

College Invitation to Make Sooner Relay Meet Southwest's Biggest

NORMAN, April 22.—With the addition of the college division Wednesday to the annual invitation relay carnival of the University of Oklahoma, athletic officials of the university plan to make this carnival one of the feature track events of the entire southwest in the future.

Last year, the University of Oklahoma announced an interscholastic relay carnival for 1924 to become an annual event and after this announcement met with an enthusiastic response, the collegiate division was added, according to Ben G. Owen, veteran Sooner mentor.

The 1924 combined interscholastic and intercollegiate relay carnival will be held at Norman May 10. High school entries will compete in the 440-yard, 880-yard, mile and medley relay races, the 100-yard dash, high and low hurdles; shot put, discus throw, javelin throw, pole vault, high and broad jump. High school shot putters will use the 12-pound shot. The same events will be held for the college division with the addition of a two-mile relay race and substitution of the 16-pound shot.

Invitations for the 1924 carnival have been sent to high schools and colleges of seven states: Oklahoma, Kansas, Missouri, Arkansas, Texas, New Mexico and Colorado although any high school or college in the United States is eligible to enter. Entrance is free and eligibility for competition will be governed by the particular conference or association to which the school entering belongs. Sooner athletic officials announced.

Entries for the 1924 carnival must be received in Norman before May 8, Owen said.

Smokestack Among Old Towers Angers Rothenburg Citizens

(By the Associated Press.)
ROTHENBURG, Bavaria.—Rothenburgers are up in arms because the town council has granted a factory the right to erect a smokestack 200 feet high in the center of this picturesque medieval city which is regarded as Germany's most perfectly preserved ancient town.

Hitherto there has been no discordant note in this old walled city. It stands just as it was in the days when Tilly entered it during the Thirty Years' War, and is one of the most popular Bavarian centers for tourists.

Rothenburg stands on a high hill and the residents insist that the factory might much better be located in the valley beneath it, where the smokestack would not break the skyline of picturesque roofs and sombre towers.

Friends of Noble Bird Lover Mistook Viscount for Tramp

LONDON.—Viscount Grey's enthusiasm for bird research was the basis of an amusing story in the House of Lords recently. During a debate on a bill which prohibits the use of dogs for vivisection purposes, Viscount Knutsford related how in company with Lord Montague he had been shooting in the New Forest on a soaking wet day. Driving home they saw what appeared to be a poor old tramp trudging along. Lord Montagu remarked:

"We must give this poor devil a lift." When they got up to the poor devil they discovered he was Viscount Grey of Falloden, who had walked four miles to see whether a certain bird was to be found by a certain pond.

Pimples

BLOOD impurities are pumped by the heart into the face. That is what causes that grainy appearance, that muddiness, sallowness, pimples, blackheads, acne, red spots, and that impossible "something" which no face cream, massage, or face powder can cover up or beautify! The foundation for a beautiful skin simply is not there, and no face treatment can give it to you. But increase your red blood cells, and quickly the ruby tint of purity begins to glow in the cheeks, the complexion becomes vermillion-like and immaculate! Try it. It will do it every time. S.S.S. builds the red-blood-cells you need for a beautiful complexion. Begin using S.S.S. at once, and give yourself what you have been working for, for years.

S.S.S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

PORTRAIT OF SAINT PATRICK IN HOUSES OF PARLIAMENT

(By the Associated Press)
LONDON.—The last of the four mosaic panels which adorn the central hall of the House of Parliament, representing the four kingdoms, England, Ireland, Scotland and Wales, has been completed. The panel portrays St. Patrick for Ireland and is the work of R. Anning Bell, R. A. The unveiling took place on St. Patrick's Day and was attended by the Irish members of both Houses.

Four arched panels were set aside for the purpose when the building was erected, and the intention of the architect that the work of filling them in should be done by posterity has taken just 100 years to be realized.

The first panel which represents St. George for England was completed in 1870 St. David for Wales in 1898 and St. Andrew for Scotland last year.

Thirty-seven miles of carpet were laid on the floors of a modern hotel recently erected.

WORK WAS BURDEN UNTIL HE TOOK TANLAC

Then Trouble Vanished Says Fred Treadwell, of Topeka, Kansas—Relief Was Lasting, He States.

"What TANLAC does it certainly does well, for it set my stomach in order two years ago and since then I have been able to eat what I want without the least trouble afterwards." is the unqualified statement of Fred Treadwell, a well known carpenter, 315 Van Buren St., Topeka, Kan.

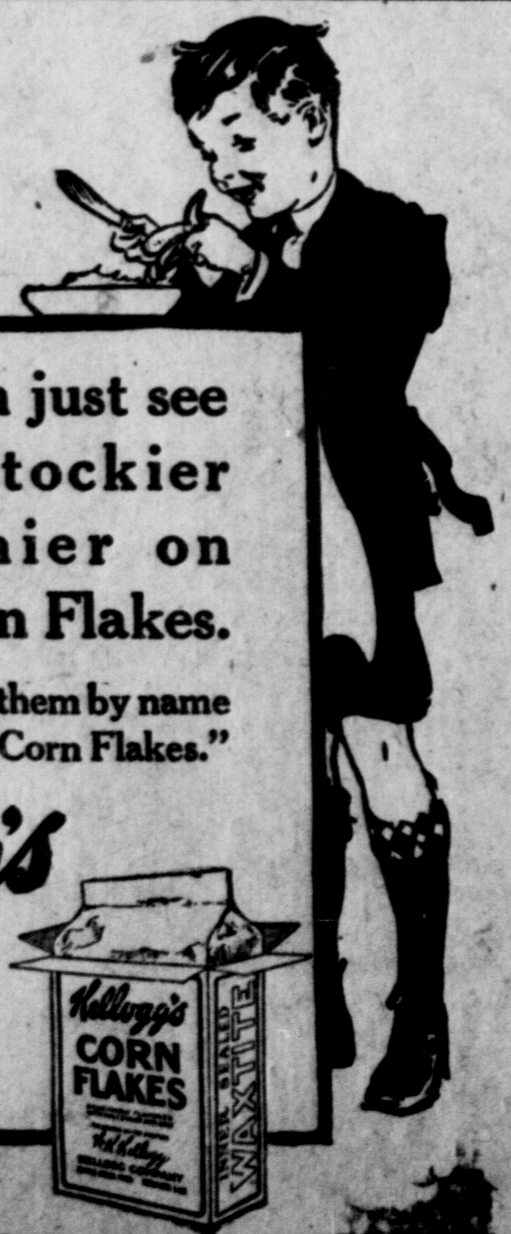

"Before taking TANLAC indigestion and nervousness had such a grip on me that I could neither eat nor sleep to do much good, and work was a burden. I would come dragging in home from my work and drop down in the first chair too tired to eat and too nervous to sleep.

"Such was my condition day in and day out until I got hold of TANLAC, and then I commenced to straighten right up. Five bottles of TANLAC put on the finishing touches, leaving me in tip-top shape, and if I should ever get to feeling bad again I'll just take more TANLAC."

TANLAC is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 40 million bottles sold.

CHAPTER XXIV The Pageant.

Jack began to assist Franklin in his correspondence and in the many business details connected with his mission.

"I have never seen a man with a like capacity for work," the young officer writes. "Every day he is conferring with Vergennes or other representatives of the king, or with the ministers of Spain, Holland and Great Britain. The greatest intellect in the kingdom is naturally in great request. Today, after many hours of negotiation with the Spanish minister, in came M. Dubourg, the most distinguished physician in Europe.

"Mon chere maitre," he said "I have a most difficult case and as you know more about the human body than any man of my acquaintance I wish to confer with you."

"Yesterday, Doctor Ingenhauz, physician to the emperor of Austria, came to consult him regarding the vaccination of the royal family of France.

"In the evening, M. Robespierre, a slim, dark-skinned, studious young attorney from Arras, wearing gold-rimmed spectacles, came for information regarding lightning rods, he having doubts of their legality. While they were talking, M. Joseph Ignace Guillotin, another physician, arrived. He was looking for advice regarding a proposed new method of capital punishment, and wished to know if, in the Doctor's opinion, a painless death could be produced by quickly severing the head from the body. Next morning, M. Jourdan, with hair and beard as red as the flank of my bay mare and a loud voice, came soon after breakfast, to sell us mules by the shipload.

"So you see that even I, living in his home and seeing him almost every hour of the day, have little chance to talk with him. Last night we met M. Voltaire—dramatist and historian—now in the evening of his days. We were at the academy, where we had gone to hear an essay by D'Alembert. Franklin and Voltaire—a very thin old gentleman of eighty-four, with piercing black eyes—sat side by side on the platform. The audience demanded that the two great men should come forward and salute each other. They arose and advanced and shook hands.

"A la Francaise," the crowd demanded.

"So the two white-haired men embraced and kissed each other amidst loud applause.

"As we were leaving the table one day he said: 'Jack, I have an idea worthy of Demosthenes. My friend, David Hartley of London, who still has hopes of peace by negotiation, wishes to come over and confer with me. I shall tell him that he may come if he will bring with him the Lady Hare and her daughter.'

"More thrilling words were never spoken by Demosthenes," I answered. "But how about Jones and his Bonne Homme Richard? He is now a terror to the British coasts. They would fear destruction."

"I shall ask Jones to let them alone," he said. "They can come under a special flag."

"Commodore Jones did not appear again in Paris until October, when he came to Passy to report upon a famous battle.

"I was eager to meet this terror of the coasts. His impudent courage and sheer audacity had astonished the world. The wonder was that men were willing to join him in such dare devil enterprises.

"I had imagined that Jones would be a tall, gaunt, swarthy, raw-boned, swearing man of the sea. He was a sleek, silent, modest little man, with delicate hands and features. He wished to be alone with the Doctor, and so I did not hear their talk. I know that he needed money and that Franklin, having no funds, provided the sea fighter with his own purse.

"One evening our near neighbors, Le Comte de Chaumont and M. LeVillier, came to announce that a dinner and ball in honor of Franklin would occur at the palace of Comte de Chaumont less than a week later.

"My good friends," said the philosopher, "I value these honors which are so graciously offered me, but I am old and have much work to do. I need rest more than I need the honors."

"It is one of the penalties of being a great savant that people wish to see and know him," said the count. "The most distinguished people in France will be among those who do you honor. I think, if you can recall a talk we had some weeks ago, you will wish to be present."

"Oh, then, you have heard from the Hornet."

"I have a letter here which you may read at your convenience."

"My dear friend, be pleased to receive my apologies and my hearty thanks," said Franklin. "Not even the gout could keep me away."

"Next day I received a formal invitation to the dinner and ball. I told the Doctor that in view of the work to be done, I would decline the invitation. He begged me not to do it and insisted that he was counting upon me to represent the valor and chivalry of the New World; that as I had grown into the exact stature of Washington and was so familiar with his manners and able to imitate them in conversation, he wished me to assume the costume of our commander in chief. He did me the honor to say:

"There is no other man whom it would be safe to trust in such an exalted role. I wish, as a favor to me, you would see what can be done at the costumer's and let me have a look at you."

"I did as he wished. The result was an astonishing likeness. I dressed as I had seen the great man in the field. I wore a wig slightly tinged with gray, a blue coat, buff waistcoat and sash and sword and the top boots and spurs. When I strode across the room in the masterly fashion of our great commander, the Doctor clapped his hands.

"You are as like him as one pea is like another," he exclaimed. "Nothing would so please our good friends, the French, who have an immense curiosity regarding Le Grand Vasanton, and it will give me an opportunity to instruct them as to our spirit."

"He went to his desk and took from a drawer a cross of jeweled gold on a long necklace of silver—a gift from the king—and put it over my head so that the cross shone upon my breast.

"That is for the faith of our people," he declared. "The guests will assemble on the grounds of the count late in the afternoon. You will ride among them on a white horse. A beautiful maiden in a white robe held at the waist with a golden girdle will receive you. She will be Human Liberty. You will dismount and kneel and kiss her hand. Then the prime minister of France will give to each a blessing and to you a sword and a purse. You will hold them up and say:

"For these things I promise you the friendship of my people and their prosperity."

"You will kiss the sword and hang it beside your own and pass the purse to me and then I shall have something to say."

"So it was all done, but with thrilling details, of which no suspicion had come to me. I had not dreamed, for instance, that the king and queen would be present and that the enthusiasm would be so great. You will be able to judge of my surprise when, riding my white horse through the cheering crowd, throwing flowers in my way, I came suddenly upon Margaret Hare in the white robe of Human Liberty. Now facing me after these years of trial, her spirit was equal to her part. She was like unto the angel I had seen in my dreams. The noble look of her face thrilled me. It was not so easy to maintain the calm dignity of Washington in that moment. I wanted to lift her in my arms and hold her there, as you may well believe, but, alas, I was Washington! I dismounted and fell upon one knee before her and kissed her hand not too fervently, I would have you know, in spite of my temptation. She stood erect, although tears were streaming down her cheeks and her dear hand trembled when it rested on my brow and she could only whisper the words:

"May the God of your fathers aid and keep you."

"The undercurrent of restrained emotion in this little scene went out to that crowd, which represented the wealth, beauty and chivalry of France. I suppose that some of them thought it a bit of good acting.

"But we were to find in this little drama a climax wholly unexpected by either of us and of an importance to our country which I try in vain to estimate. When the prime minister handed the purse to Franklin he bade him open it. This the latter did, finding therein letters of credit for three million livres granted, of which we were in sore need. With it was the news that a ship would be leaving Boulogne in the morning and that relays on the way had been provided for his messenger. The invention of our beloved diplomat was equal to the demand of the moment and so he announced:

"Washington is like his people. He turns from all the loves of this world to obey the call of duty. My young friend who has so well presented the look and manner of Washington will now show you his spirit."

"He looked at his watch and added:

"Within forty minutes he will be riding post to Boulogne, there to take ship for America."

TULSA—One wall of the room in which Mrs. Pearl Gardner, 700 pound woman, died at her home near Jenks, was removed Saturday as the huge casket containing her body could be taken out for burial.

Eight strong pallbearers carried the casket from the little home to the waiting hearse after the funeral services Saturday afternoon, and again after the nine mile trip to the cemetery at Bixby to lower the coffin into the wide grave.

Undertaker Floyd C. Leonard, of Bixby, had ordered the casket built to fit the woman following her death Thursday from fatty degeneration as the result of thyroid trouble and it arrived from Port Smith Friday. It is 42 inches in width, over 32 inches in depth and 70 inches long. Eight bolted handles were attached to the heavy cypress wood for the pallbearers.

The motor hearse used by Leonard was large enough to hold the coffin after some of the interior fittings were removed.

Mrs. Gardner was the wife of Andrew Gardner oil field worker, and although she was but 38 years of age, she was believed to be the largest woman in the world.

"So here I am on the ship L'Etoile and almost in sight of Boston harbor, bringing help and comfort to our great chief."

"I was presented to the king and queen. Of him I have written—a stout, fat-faced man, highly colored, with a sloping forehead and large gray eyes. His coat shone with gold embroidery and jeweled stars. His close-fitting waistcoat of milk white satin had golden buttons and a curve which was not the only sign he bore of rich wine and good capon. The queen was a beautiful, dark-haired lady of some forty years, with a noble and gracious countenance. She was clad in no vesture of gold, but in sober black velvet. Her curls fell upon the loose ruff of lace around her neck. There were no jewels on or about her bare, white bosom. Her smile and gentle voice, when she gave me her bon-voyage and best wishes for the cause so dear to us, are jewels I shall not soon forget.

"Yes, I had a little talk with Margaret and her mother, who walked with me to Franklin's house. There, in his reception room, I took a good look at the dear girl, now more beautiful than ever, and held her to my heart a moment.

"I see you and then I have to go," I said.

"It is the fault of my too romantic soul," she answered mournfully. "For two days we have been in hiding here. I wanted to surprise you."

"She lifted the jeweled cross I wore to her lips and kissed it. I wish that I could tell you how beautiful she looked then. She is twenty-six years old and her womanhood is beginning."

GORDON RESIGNS AS SCHOOL HEAD

President of University of Tulsa Resigns to Take Year of Study

TULSA, Okla., April 23—The announcement of the resignation of Dr. J. M. Gordon as president of the University of Tulsa today came as a surprise to student and alumni. Differences of opinion between President Gordon and some members of the school's board led to his withdrawal.

His resignation was presented to the executive committee of the board of trustees late yesterday in person, the committee accepting it tentatively and issuing a call for the full board of 40 members, to meet here within two weeks to consider what action will be taken. The resignation is to take effect June 1, and Doctor Gordon said today he planned to go to Chicago from here this summer, and would likely spend a year or so in the University of Chicago taking post graduate work.

The resignation read:

"For some years I have been hoping that the time might come when I could take a year off and spend it in study. Furthermore, the realization of the desire seems possible during the coming year, through the courtesies of year own board. Also I feel now and have felt for some time, a very definite need of resting from the arduous work of a school executive, at least for a year. In view of these facts I am presenting herewith my resignation from the presidency of the University of Tulsa, formerly Henry Kendall College, the same to take effect June 1, 1924."

Was Recently Re-elected

Doctor Gordon stated that his resignation was decided upon after he had been re-elected for his fifth year as president at the regular meeting of the executive committee, held the first Tuesday in April, when the faculty for the ensuing year was also chosen.

Members of the executive committee which received the resignation, praised the work of President Gordon during the period he has been head of the local institution, and gave him credit for the aggressive policy of expansion the school has been practicing recently.

The enrollment of the college has doubled since Doctor Gordon came here four years ago, and the name has been changed from Henry Kendall college to The University of Tulsa. An endowment of $750,000 has been obtained under his leadership, including a gift of $125,000 from the Rockefeller Foundation. A campaign to clean up the indebtedness of the institution is now under way.

No change in plans for the summer school or other work of the institution will likely be made at this time, Doctor Gordon said today, and explained that he would go ahead with the original program until his term expires. He expects that the full board will confirm the action of the executive committee and accept the resignation.

It was considered probable by those closely in touch with the university affairs that Dr. Franklin G. Dill, dean of the institution will be placed temporarily in charge in case a new president is not selected at the called meeting. In that case Doctor Dill would be in charge of the summer school session.

Acceptance Anticipated

Frank Barnes, vice chairman of the executive committee and of the board, pending the acceptance of the post as chairman by E. P. Harwell, said today that Doctor Gordon had told some of the trustees some time ago that he desired to take a year's postgraduate work soon, but that it was thought that he would go next year when he was re-elected president this month. The full board will also likely accept the resignation, Barnes said.

Dr. Marie Munk's New Honor

WOMAN WITHOUT COUNTRY APPEALS TO LEAGUE COURT

GENEVA—"The man without a country," or in this case a woman, actually has come before the League of Nations.

A woman whose property in France was sequestered during the war appealed to the World Court at The Hague, stating that France labels her as German, but that Germany refuses to recognize her as a national. The World Court passed the problem of the woman's recourse to justice up to the league.

Conditions arising from the war probably have placed many persons in this same position, so that they are debarred from all existing legal tribunals.

The legal lights of the league admit there is involved in such cases a denial of justice. The solution appears to be the elaboration of an international convention by which states surrender existing sovereign rights of deciding for themselves the conditions under which their nationality is automatically or may voluntarily be acquired or lost. The question raised by the German woman does not lie within the competency of the league covenant, and it seems plain, say the legal experts, that the league only can act through the initiative of a state.

OKLAHOMA BANKERS QUITE OPTIMISTIC

OKLAHOMA CITY.—Better times are here!

Thirty leading members of the Oklahoma Bankers association, representing every section of the state, met Tuesday in Oklahoma City to take stock of banking and agricultural conditions. Here is the result of the day's deliberations:

The bankers report that the banks of the state, both national and state, are in better condition than they have been for years.

Money conditions are good in all sections and cash deposits are on the increase.

Very few of the banks are burdened with rediscounts and few of them report bills payable; but on the other hand the banks are able at this season for the first time in years, to take care of all loans for legitimate purposes without calling for outside help.

No money is being lent for speculative purposes.

The morale of the people is the best in a long while. The people feel that the bank troubles are over and everybody seems to be happy.

Every banker at the meeting reported excellent prospects for crop production. The wheat crop in central and northern Oklahoma; the cotton crop in southern, eastern and southwestern Oklahoma; the kafir crops of Western Oklahoma, and the corn, alfalfa, oats, broomcorn and potato crops all have bright roads ahead.

"The bankers are in touch with every phase of activity in their communities," said Eugene P. Gum, secretary of the association, "and the meeting was called to feel the pulse of the people and the whole situation. The result of the conference is a true indication that every kind of business and all of the people are looking up, and that better times are ahead. Reports of the bankers show that there is not a thing or a condition right now to cause any person to be grouchy. Business is good, collections are good, there is plenty of money for every rightful purpose, everybody is working, and Oklahoma, judging from every standpoint, has beaten back to normal and is forging on."

Thinks Long Voyage no Bar To Winning America's Cup

(By the Associated Press)

LONDON.—Lecturing on the "America's Cup" which Sir Thomas Lipton has been trying to annex for some years, Major B. Hukstall-Smith said the cup was worth winning back and he believed it could be done if yacht clubs and yachtsmen encouraged the sport of yacht racing and gave designers the opportunity.

The lecturer commented on the general opinion that because the British yachts had to cross the Atlantic, they were handicapped in having to be more strongly built. He doubted whether that would bear the cold light of scientific examination. He believed the reason was one of design, and expressed the opinion that the time would come when British designers would rise to the occasion and recover the cup.

(By the Associated Press)

FAIRBANKS, Alaska.—Alaska's first aerial postman, Bennie Eielson, who flies weekly between this city and McGrath, a distance of 300 miles, is known by the Indians at McGrath as "the moose ptarmigan."

The nickname was earned when Eielson, in February, made his first trip and landed at McGrath. Scores of Indians observed the approach of the airplane and stood with awe as the aviator landed and stepped from his conveyance. The Indians had been skeptical of reports of the airman, but had camped there for days watching the skies.

Statewide Tax Payers League Is Organized

OKLAHOMA CITY.—Organization of a statewide tax-payers association was effected by representatives of 30 counties meeting in the Oklahoma club main ball room Monday.

Three tax issues were stated and discussed.

1. United attack on all illegal levies in the state.
2. Moulding of public sentiment to support desired tax legislation.
3. Move to secure more efficient investing of municipal sinking fund monies.

The meeting was called by the Oklahoma City Governmental Research Bureau, managed by Campbell Russell.

Russell gave a lengthy speech, explaining that though the local bureau had been able to do much in the city and county, it needed the support of every county in the state for the greater tasks still confronting tax payers.

B. A. Enloe, of McAlester, was elected president of the state association, and J. R. Hogge, Oklahoma university student, secretary.

Professor F. F. Blackley, head of the O. U. governmental research department, had on display more than 20 charts and blue prints showing graphically state revenues and resources, compared with taxes paid in the past. One of the facts brought out was that 21st in population, Oklahoma is 16th in the number of automobiles owned but only 31st in education.

ISOSTASY THEORY HITS OLD BELIEF

Northwestern Professor Claims World is Solid to Its Center

(By the Associated Press)

CHICAGO, April 23.—Isostasy, the theory for the establishment of which Director John Hayford, head of the college of engineering at Northwestern University, was awarded the Victorian Medal by the Royal Geographic Society of Great Britain, is explained by the director as a force beneath the surface of the earth tending to equalize pressure at all points.

"It adds much to strengthen the evidence that the world is solid throughout," Hayford said. "In a measure, it also explains earthquakes. On the Japanese coast and the western coast of the United States there are high mountains adjacent to great ocean depths.

"Isostasy demonstrates that earthquakes under such conditions are not due to action of subterranean gases and lava on the earth's crust, but to the deeper movement of the earth's bulk, due to tremendous pressure," at all points.

He declared that where gases and fire exist they occupy pockets in the earth's crust, and that the center of the earth is not a molten mass.

Director Hayford's studies of isostasy have been translated and are now being used and referred to by scientists of every nation. Many geologists have accepted his theory.

"Isostasy advances the supposition that rocks are lighter under the high parts of the American continent than the low parts," he said. "If the theory is true, then there is a hydrostatic pressure in the rocks of the earth everywhere at about 70 miles below sea level. Under the deeps of the Atlantic rocks are four percent heavier than under Pike's Peak. Hence, the relation of the elevation above sea level on the one hand and the density of the rocks of that section of the globe down to a depth of about 70 miles on the other hand, is such that a column under any square mile of the earth down to 70 miles below sea level weighs nearly the same as any other such column."

Director Hayford began work on his theory in 1909. Since then he has conducted more than 800 plumb line comparisons. He said that the pull of the earth in a pendulum has been measured in 200 places in the United States, a record proof of isostasy.

THE BLIZZARD HAS ACTUAL SCENES OF ELEMENTAL STORM

In the interests of science, a party of Swedish explorers, caught in a blizzard, were able to photograph the scene as a great herd of reindeer stampeded, terrified by the intensity of the gale. This scene was used later as a part of the William Fox production, "The Blizzard," adopted from "The Story of a Country House," by Selma Lagerlof, winner of the Nobel prize for literature.

The picture follows the novel in its romance of Gunnar Hede and Ingrid, the little violinist of the wandering road troupe takes Gunnar into the frozen country and brings him back into a blizzard when the reindeer break and like a groundswell on the sea, roll across the distance and disappear in the bleak gray dawn.

Einar Hanson has the role as Gunnar, while Mary Johnson, known as the "Mary Pickford of Europe" portrays Ingrid. A capable cast of Swedish artists gives them remarkable support. The principal parts call for dramatic interpretations which are given admirably. "The Blizzard" should be one of the most entertaining pictures of the year. It comes to the McSwain Theatre Thursday for two days.

"Stephen Steps Out"

An Arabian Nights adventure up-to-date which includes the rescue of the heir to the Turkish throne by a young American boy, an escape from a Turkish prison and the winning of a famous Turkish decoration may be seen in "Stephen Steps Out," a Paramount picture starring Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., which will be on view at the McSwain theatre today.

The picture was directed by Joseph Henabery and was adapted by Edith Bingham from the Richard Harding Davis story, "The Grand Cross of the Crescent." Heading the supporting cast, in the role of the head of a great ham-packing firm, is Theodore Roberts.

Young Fairbanks makes his debut in this picture, which is among the first to be produced by Paramount under the new policy of 52 "bigger and better" pictures a year. The sets are lavish with Oriental splendor. Scenes are shown of the throne room with the Sultan and his advisors in session, a huge hotel of Oriental architecture in Constantinople and many quaint corners of the Near-East city where Turkish rebels are supposed to be plotting to overthrow the government.

The story concerns Stephen Harlow, Jr., son of the head of the Harlow Packing company, who is attending a school founded by his father. Stephen falls in his examination in Turkish history and his angry father sends him to Turkey with a tutor to study the history of the country on the spot.

TULSA OIL MAN OFF ON CAMPAIGN

Wrightman to Launch Campaign for Senate Under Farmer-Labor Banner

SALLISAW, April 23.—Under the banner of the Farm-Labor Progressive League Charles W. Wrightman candidate for the United States senate, will begin this week his fight to obstruct the democratic nomination.

According to Ray Weems, Sallisaw newspaper man, who is president of the Wrightman-for-senate club, supporters of the Tulsa oil man will meet with him this week in Tulsa where plans will be completed for an intensive speaking campaign. Wrightman will speak in every county of the state but will center his fight on the belt of southern democratic counties, Weems said.

In addition to completing plans for the speaking campaign the Tulsa conference will launch the organization of the Wrightman-for-senate clubs throughout the state.

General headquarters for Wrightman will be located in Oklahoma City, Weems said. Much of the oil man's campaign will center around the distribution of pamphlets and bulletins by mail.

Although Wrightman received the endorsement of the Farm-Labor league at the El Reno convention his headquarters will be separate from those of the league, and his campaign will be independent of other league candidates, Weems said.

Weems was chosen to hear the Wrightman campaign because he has been a life-long friend of the oil man. The Sallisaw editor was a school child in Pawnee county when Wrightman was the county attorney.

NEW IMMIGRATION PLAN WOULD INCLUDE FAMILIES

CLEVELAND, April 23.—Wives or husbands and unmarried minor children of resident citizens would be admitted into the United States without being counted in the immigration quota of their country, in the report of the Immigration committee of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, whose recommendations are to be made at its convention here May 6-8.

Immigration certificates, or consular quota certificates, would be issued at the monthly rate of one-tenth of the annual quota to prospective immigrants who make formal application and who present credentials showing they are admissible, under another recommendation in the report.

The system of selection would permit entrance to those qualified mentally, morally and physically, regardless of race and nationality. The report says the present quota law, after being modified, should be reenacted for a definite term of years. During this time it proposes that a federal board make a study of the effects of the immigration law both in the United States and abroad.

"This commission also should have power to devise and supervise a method of selective immigration—administration of the law, however, remaining in the immigration service as at present—and to make recommendations to the president for raising or lowering the quota within limits to be fixed by congress," the report reads.

"The committee believes," continues the report, "the present base year of 1910 should be retained during the brief period of the quota law's extension both in order that experience during the last three years may be comparable with that during the next three to five years, and in order to avoid raising the troublesome question of discrimination."

NORMAN PREPARES FOR ANNUAL MEET

Expect Between 4000 and 5000 at Twentieth Field Meet

(By the Associated Press)

NORMAN, Okla., April 21.—Plans for the twentieth Oklahoma interscholastic high school meet to be held here April 24, 25 and 26 are completed and authorities of the university of Oklahoma, under the auspices of which the meet is conducted, are prepared to accommodate between 4,000 and 5,000 boys and girls from the highschools of the state.

The meet will, as usual, bring together the best of the state's high-school students, and the leaders of the various schools will compete in a contest that will identify the best in each line of highschool work.

The meet is the largest in the United States. Several state universities hold similar gatherings, but in all other states the meet is the concluding event that follows a series of district competitions, the winners alone participating in the final.

Seventy-six events are listed on the program, of which seven are athletic. The athletic events, however, include a track meet and baseball and tennis tournaments, which are in themselves comprehensive contests.

The non-athletic and curricular events are divided into music, art, public speaking, publications, book-keeping, chemistry, civics, English, geography, history, home economics, Latin, mathematics, mechanical drawing, modern languages, physics, physiology, psychology, radio, stenography and zoology.

Most of these general subjects are sub-divided. Ten such divisions have been added this year to the non-athletic contests.

The meet is under the general direction of a committee composed of F. G. Tappan, chairman, director of curricular events; Ben G. Owen, director of athletic events, and Mrs. B. M. Barry, director of fine arts events.

The new university cinder track which was completed just before the meet last year, has been improved and will be faster than at that time. Athletic officials of the university predict that several state high school records will be broken.

The new track has a 220-yard straightway and a quarter-mile oval. The track is two feet thick with eighteen inches of rock base. It is tilted so that it is impossible for rain to injure it.

All the athletic events and many of the non-athletic are divided into three classes, contests in which will be held simultaneously. The classes are determined by the size of the school from which the teams come. Individual contests are in one class only.

Every tennis court at the university and every baseball diamond in the city will be in use constantly during the baseball and tennis tournaments.

Visiting highschool delegations will be housed in Norman residences, parked Pullman cars, dormitories, sorority and fraternity houses and in every other available place in the city. It is probable the army will permit the use of tents which will be pitched on the campus for boys.

RELATIVE ROAD VALUE IS PROVED BY SCIENCE

AMES, IOWA, April 23.—A machine which measures accurately the pull exerted by a team of horses, which, in the opinion of expert horsemen, promises to revolutionize the draft horse breeding business, has been invented by E. V. Collins of the agricultural engineering department of Iowa State College in co-operation with the Horse Association of America.

In appearance the machine is much like a wagon and makes use of the principle of hydraulics. Weights, the number of which can be changed at will, are suspended in mid-air while the horses are pulling. When the horses pull, the weights are raised, a valve is opened, the wheels are unlocked and the wagon moves forward. The load which the team pulls is always constant, whether on a pavement, a plowed field or going up or down hill.

Hests already conducted show that steel rails offer the least resistance to a road, with level granite blocks, well laid in cement, a close second. Asphalt offers twice the resistance of steel rails, and is ranked the lowest. The tests show that the heavier the horse, the greater his capacity to pull. Much depends on the driver's method of handling his team.

A team of New York horses holds the world's record for pulling 2,450 pounds 12 feet in six seconds. The average pull exerted by a team is 800 pounds, showing that teams have a reserve power much greater than is required in ordinary pulling.

Says Hamon Gave $100,000 to Fund

TULSA.—That the late Jake Hamon contributed approximately $100,000 and not $1,000,000 to the Warren Harding campaign fund, was the assertion of Frederick L. Thornton, Tulsa public accountant, who has been subpoenaed before the senate investigating committee.

Thornton left today for Washington to appear before the committee and refute the charges made by Al Jennings, former train bandit, who told of Hamon's deal. Thornton was in charge of the audit of Hamon's estate.

A number of military maps were recently stolen from the French government.
